And is prepared to supply good Ink, as any made in any part of the globe, and warranted to turn its beautiful jet black color which it has at the moment when used, at 50 p $ less than the same can be bought at any other houses.

People under the impression, that they pay their $20 mp. for a quart bottle of English Ink, can have the same proved, that most of the Ink sold for English, is made in this country, and imposed upon the public as such. But I am not induced to put my own Name on the label, being fully convinced that my Ink is of a much superior quality, and produces more virtue & light on the eye.

I—Is not a corrosive Ink at the moment when used.

II—Does not clot.

III—Has a body off the pen.

IV—A great ease to the eyes to those who have much to write at night

V—Does not destroy the eyes their eyesight, to a what they have written.

For the reasons established, I hope the public will give a preference to the same which will be a benefit to the buyer, and the country, in assisting Home industry.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1863.

REVOLUTIONARY COINCIDENCES.

In all countries it is difficult to foretel the chances of a rebellion, and no less so to arrive at a true account of the belligerents, since the authorities always diminish the forces or successes of the rebels, and more depends on the popular feeling, than on any military movements. Hence is explained the strange turn of affairs in the United States, and, for the same reason, the desperate war in Poland may have an unexpected result. In the Argentine republic, we are never wholly safe against political disturbance, and disaster, as well as lack of regular garrisons, leaves the towns of the interior exposed to a coup de main on the part of any daring general or ambitious caudillo. Such disorders are generally of a transient character which eventually, like the mirage of the Pampas, on the approach of the representatives of Government.

The late revolt, however, in Rioja is more serious than can be supposed on merely glancing at the numbers of the free-booters, since there are antecedents and coincidences which reveal a deep-laid plot, the work of no common intellect, and show it is not an improvised disturbance, but the matured effort of a party whose ambition for an interval was dormant. Six months ago, we read, in a correspondence of the "Eco de Cordoba," what then seemed a calumnious report of intrigues by Peñaloza, who was making his highland home the rendezvous of refugees returning from Chile, and conveying thither quantities of armament, from all quarters. Next came the revolution in Catamarca, which being forestalled, the Chacho denied all complicity in the same, but if it had succeeded, his attitude would have been, doubtless, very different. The savage of the Gran Chaco made a simultaneous irruption into Sta. Fé, but this part of the campaign eventually ended like the former, in the restoration of order. About the same period alarming rumors were current, of minis rifles and Armstrong guns being added to Urquiza's magazine, and the trifling affair at the Carnival of Concordia instead of being at that the wind blew from a point adverse to Buenos Ayres and the new National Government Some Journals in Urquizas interest commenced feeling the popular mind by publishing terrible invectives against the "tyranny of the Unitarios," and inciting the hero of Monte Caseros to lend once more his lances, in the cause of Liberty.

The works of consolidation had begun the proposed railway to Cordoba threaten'ed a death- blow to internal riot, the new industries, enterprises, and schemes of immigration promised durability to the regime of Mitre, and it was resolved to make a final effort, before the next meeting of Congress, to pull down the edifice of the Constitution. Accordingly the clans are grouped around the several leaders, and Ontiveros, Puebla, Rodriguez, Calaveba, rush forward in the four points of the compass, proclaiming the accession of a Dictator without a Legislature, and pressing political mortality, while indulging in the most flagitious excesses. Juan Saa observes the course of events from beyond the Uruguay, Urquiza's emissaries hurry hither and thither, Peñaloza manages all, and writes a sanctimonious letter of innocence, lullilling the adage "Hace la piedra y esconder la mano".

Meantime lest the gaucho element should prove insufficient, the enemies of civilisation were called in, to make common league against the friend of progress; and the invasions of Rio Cuarto distract the attention of the Government from the dying operations of the Rioja rebels. Who cannot see in all this something more than a fortuitous coincidence? Who does not that some common cause have employed all their prestige from the Chaco to the Caudillers, in aid of a cause which before was only unfortunate, but is now utterly disgraced.

We expect some important revolutions before long, and while fully estimating the gravity of the danger which was befriended in secret against the National Government, our hopes and sympathies are in favor of the triumph of law and order.

THE INDIANS AGAIN.

It is impossible to deny the fact that, owing to the want of proper measures being taken by the National Government, not only Buenos Ayres, but the whole frontier line of the Argentine Republic, is defenceless and unprotected The extent of territory is so immense that General Mitre might as well attempt to blockade the whole South American sea board, as to try and keep the Indians back at all points with the bayonet Convinced of this fact, we suggested a few months ago that conciliatory plans be adopted. The National Government, taking the hint, employed a gentleman who had considerable experience in the Indian office in Washington, to proceed to the Gran Chaco, in order that if amicable relations could be established

Fortunately, by the Pavon's mail, we learn that on the 30th instant, the Indians have invaded Cordova, and surrounded within one league of the town of the Rio 4, where they have cooly encamped, to the number of about 800, creating the greatest terror amongst the inhabitants, and loss to the hacendados.

Owing to the disturbance caused by Ontiveros and Puebla, it was surmised that some gaucho chief would have been the leader of the barbarians; but such is not the case, as appears from the statement of a captive boy, who had escaped. They are headed by a chief named Mariano. They have got about 15,000 head of cattle already, and nearly as many mares. The affrighted inhabitants sent Chasques to Baigorrea, to come to their assistance, but he was unable to comply, owing to the poor state of the horses.

There can be little doubt that these invasions are made at the instigation of the very same parties who are at present causing all the disturbance in the interior, as this 'eco at attack occurs at the same time, and in the same province where the subalterns of Peñaloza have done so much mischief.

It is rumoured, 'also, that the Buenos Ayres Government has received notice that the Indians to the South of this province meditate an immediate invasion, as they are short of mares in the toldos.

With all these unpleasant facts staring us in the face, and with a band of Montoneros collecting all sorts of anarchy and plunder in the provinces we confess the National Government merits the sympathy and assistance of us all.

General Paunero, we believe, will be able to put down the "Montaneros." Minister Gelly, who like Carnot, may be said to "organize victory," is busily occupied in Rosario. But the most important man in the provinces to-day, is neither Peñaloza, Paunero, Gelly, nor even Sarmiento, but the unpretending messenger of peace and good-will, Mr Dyes. We call upon the National Government, if it wants to put a stop to these constant invasions, to establish an Indian department, to appoint fit and proper persons to treat with the caciques, to establish agricultural colonies at the nation's expense, along the frontier line, to deal fairly with those troublesome neighbours whom the gauchos term uncivilised: to pay them for their lands, supply them with seeds, farming implements, and the ordinary necessaries of life: to send the minister of the Gospel, to preach peace and good-will amongst them. This and this only, is the way to deal with the Indian.

We can neither conquer nor exterminate them; let us try conciliation. The Indian has his rights, and he knows them, Under a wise, paternal government, he can be made more useful, and even obedient to the laws of the country than those civilised gauchos, who, knowing the laws, disobey them: enjoy civil rights, and abuse them; and, finally, are far more troublesome and injurious to the whole country at large, than the unfortunate and illtreated savages of the Pampas.

THE GAS COMPANY V. THE MUNICIPALITY.

We have been for some time at a loss to know what had been the result of this knotty question, and have not last discovered that it is no near a solution as it was this time last year: we have not yet received any official excited. knowing what a long winded body this Municipality is we have before us a copy of a printed report of this respectable committee appointed to arrange with the Gas Company signed by Sres. Bret, Azcuenaga and Mesquita, which is certainly unseen as decisive to bring the matter to a speedy conclusion; we have however other documents which tell the tale of oppressed parties, but as the report is to be good until the other is told so it is in this case, for the tale of the Gas Company puts another face upon the matter: leaving both the two sides of the question before us we shall do our best to do justice to both parties, and as it has a very simple principle and practice hitherto. so shall we endeavor to advocate that which is untranslatable into another language, "fair play," and common sense whenever we find them.

The present long contested dispute is simply to arrive at the actual cost of a thousand feet of Gas, through individual merely acquainted with commercial matters will in his innocence say, that must be a very easy matter to arrive at, if he knows what the coal, coal, wages, etc. and the quantity of Gas that coal yields, but from the number of years you have been buying, you like to call them that are brought to bear, involves the whole question in such mystery that we should as soon think of counting the sands on the shore.

The only conclusion we can come to is that there is some screw loose somewhere, and as all anonymous communications are more or less subject at which we dissatisfied mortals fire off our wrath and indignation before we proceed, but we were in the position practised upon us, still in this instance we must say the Gas Company seems to have made every reasonable offer to the Municipality to settle the affect. We have examined the tables in the Municipal committee's report, and find the net cost of Gas to a thousand feet is a little over $8 m/n which have to be added the back & and cost of distribution; we feel bound to say that the figures in the tables are correct, as we cannot for one moment our own any unprejudiced citizen to believe that the gentlemen composing the Gas committee who have acted have would be men of the highest respectability and commercial standing in the city would condescend to anything that was not strictly correct. Where therefore we to look for the loose screw. The Municipal committee so far as we can learn have acted with the best intention and as we by no means insinuate the Municipal commissioner in that unfortunate category has been misled in any way, but we must be allowed to say that the public of Buenos Ayres if so be is really deserving of its warm-hearted, but stranger impulses, and without any interest at stake, except the public interest, which he has undertaken to defend;—who comes amongst us, and at once enters the field as a municipal champion, fighting a most onerous battle for the public interest, requires at least such a man above common mankind.

All we know of this gas champion is, he came from Montevideo, where he had had an almighty row about the gas works of that city. Whether he or the zinc pipes, or the nozzle do porro, was the cause of the fave, we will try to be ask. But whatever was made application to the gas company to be appointed their 'gerente.' Meeting with disappointment in that quarter, he rushed off to a well known broker in gas shares, and at once launched him-elf as a stock holder, to the tune of 20 shares: went to the meeting at the head of a small body around, and there raised his voice in a manner that would have done credit to an unfortunate Irishman at the Great Swillington. He was not appreciated—at any rate, not successful—to swamp the whole of the gas committee. He, in great disgust, immediately disposed of his whole stock, and was elected municipal supleute. Th actual municipal fell sick of a complaint the doctors at the period could not isolate, but it is believed now to have been the municipal dyspepsia and the Orcutal became obliged to fill at once set himself to the task of putting down the extortions of the gas company, whose favour but a few short weeks before he solicited.

This is all we know of the third nomed commissioner; and we leave all our readers (as he must leave a motive) to divine what motive he had and if at the same time we enjoin upon you to believe it is for the public good, and for the public only, that he has come forward in such a noble a work—an unselfish and disinterested manner.

If we do not more or less of the Municipal agitation come to the question, we ask support with a powerful Municipality with the Minister of the Nation—Dr Gelly—present for the Gas Company, is compelled to reduce its price? the natural consequence will be that the Company must make the price to the private consumers or shut up shop, than which a greater calamity could scarce befall Buenos Ayres. In the event of the former alternative be taken it will throw the tax for the public lighting of the streets comparatively small, on the private resident which we and all gas consumers most strenuously raise our voice if the latter we and the public would have to say farewell to Buenos Ayres who have their eyes upon every act of our Government will lose a regret, and the Republic of Buenos Ayres will be established. Therefore we must say we have more confidence in the powers that be and believe they will take a right view of the matter, and that it will be for the general benefit to them the whole question. They have only to make comparison with our neighbours to be in that the price of Gas in Buenos Ayres is to private consumers and that offered by the Gas Co. to supply the public lamps is a less one than is now paid by any city than any in S.th America.

The Government has the means at hand to bring the municipal committee to its bearings, and I do is, we are sure, the wish of every citizen, that what is right and just should be paid to the gas company, instead of useless and ruinous litigation, which is established to be practised on one of the most useful institutions Buenos Ayres possess.

AMERICAN ITEMS.

In this city we are on the look out for some excitement. It will not matter whether it is an outbreak or a ghost. Last night, until long after midnight, thousands passed and repassed an empty house, No 88, Twenty seventh street. It had been empty for some time, and upon it was a bill—"To Let." Some wag of a newspaper had posted it over with a story that was haunted and that every night the ghost of a lawyer would stand at one of the front windows. I have never seen such an excitement as it has occasioned. The tramp of feet past my house was heard all night. It will be so probably for a week to come.

Old Lyman Beecher died in this city this week. He was aged 85. He was the father of Henry Ward Beecher, Mr. Stowe, and several other abolition children, known as the "Beecher."

There are over 5000 stage drivers in New York city. It is estimated that a general rule they make from 2 dols. to 3 dols. extra a day, by "pegging" stray sixpences, and giving false change. There are colossal fortunes made out of them in this city. "The Dead Rabbits" of the Five Points are patterns of politeness when compared with our omnibus drivers. They have lately killed several persons by running over them with their horses. They never fail to try how near they can drive to a scared woman or child, and not actually run over them. Frequently they are drunk, and "carelessly run over" by the coroner's verdict. Not a week has passed without one or more deaths from this cause.

Every one between 10 and 60, male or female, for two years past has turned his or her attention to shaving. It has become which belt for Rosario returned on Sunday a perfect mania. Even the most prominent secretaries of existing pond companies. The grand one of all is that on the Central Park. Thousands resort to it. The water is not allowed to be over four feet deep. This was a lucky arrangement, for a few days ago the ice gave way at the Fifth Avenue Pond, and over 2000 persons were precipitated into the water. Yesterday, however a more serious affair occured at Harpersville (New York). Thirty seven persons were skating upon the lake, when the ice gave way, and 37 were drowned.

N. L, and G. Griswold, the owners of the ship George Griswold, that carries out the flour for the poor of England, became accident on board the transport Tellie that they own. An explosion occurred that killed four men instantly. The scalded bodies were brought up to town to-day. The steamer is at anchor off the Battery, an object of interest to people who have nothing else to look at. There also is to be seen the British gun-boat Nimble mounting six guns, that arrived here yesterday from Bermuda.

A last night attended a meeting where thousands congregated to hear the Hon. S. S. Cox, a member of Congress from Ohio, make a speech upon New England Puritanism. He denounced those six states as a cress to the country, and, as a cause of this bloody civil war, that they had been so numerous in Congress, while New York and Ohio, with twice the population had but four senators. He declared that the West would go with the South; that the middle States, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, would go with the West, and that the sooner it was done the better. Cast out New England was his motto. During the evening those times he spoke of Jefferson Davis, and three times the cheers were so tremendous for the Southern President that it seemed as though the building would fall. This week you will see the commencement of New York. Mr. Cox spoke of the persecution of the Southerners, because they differed from them, as being exactly as they persecuted Church of England people 100 years ago. He stated that the penal code of the New England States was framed from the Common Law, and that New England had given as generals the three greatest scoundrels of any age. Arnold, the traitor of 1776; Hull, of 1814; and Butler, of 1862! In 1812 she refused troops to fight against England, and to-day the deserters from one state alone—Massachusetts—are 16,000! I have never witnessed a more enthusiastic meeting. It only shows that New York and Ohio are volcanos. When I come home at ten o'clock I found the ghost mob in Twenty-seventh-street more dense than ever. The police were doing their best to keep the street open

The Government has appointed old General Wool, who is 80 years old, as commander of the department of New York. Poor old Wool! New York 40 years ago was the position for Jeff Davis, as the man did last night, would have a sorry time of it. Lincoln probably thinks that the venerable appearance of the old man would do more good, if an outbreak should occur, than soldiers. He is right. Soldiers would be of no use.

Next month over 60,000 men will come home from the war (those as are alive), and will immediately be disbanded. They will go no more to fight A resolution has been offered in the House of Representatives that Lincoln and the civilians shall not receive a cent of their pay until the army is paid up. There is also a vast difference in the pay of the two services The poor soldier gets his pay (whenever he does get it) in greenbacks. Those in the Cabinet get their pay in yellow gold.

BAD RAILWAY. The last quinta of calle Salpeche is being paved very badly, the stones are too small and wild apart the joints of the Asfalto have been known for some time by the initiated, and is only carrying out Captain Semmes original programme"

The Duke of Sussex one of the freest people in the world was on Thursday presented with his Freedom. "The Most Worshipful Grand Master, Most illustrious Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, Duke of Saxony, Duke of Cornwall, Duke Rothesay, Earl of Dublin, became a Citizen and Fishmonger! In a ceremony of solemn nonsense he became a Freeman of the Mystery of Fishmongers. He was required to "solemnly and sincerely declare that he would be true and faithful to the Company and Society, and to their rules successors—(that is to himself)—that he would be obedient to the Master and Wardens for the time being members for the time being in that office, and ready to come at their summones and lawful warning." &c &c This has a no less amusing sequence as the oaths and customs a little too far. "There is no mystery in fishmongering. The only mysteries, how such senseless nonsensicies are remain, whilst enermoned war is waged even against noble and beneficent institutions, which can do no more of their antiquity. Surely, such a declaration might have been spared on Heir to the Crown. To us the whole affair has "a very ancient and a fishlike smell."

Diseases of Head and Heart,

Why are these diseases so fatal The answer is self-evident—because the first of nerves, action are deranged, and the remedies employed are unsuspected. Neither is the cure at the present day, with the exception of Holloway's Pills, discovered yesterday, as a price which places them within the reach of every body. Their extraordinary concord if the powers of nerve are extended to, as the remedies, either in the affections which in deranging these organs which are already acting here from.

Holloway's Pills are the best purifiers, and are therefore the surest preservatives of sensual health and beauty. They are established, they that I assure the most unerring remedies.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases.

Ague	Inflammation
Asthma	Liver Complaints
Bowel Complaints	Lumbago
Colics	Piles
Constipation	Rheumatism
Consumption of the Lungs	Retention of Urine
Debility	Scrofula or King's Evil

COLEGIO ANGLO-PORTEÑO
205—CALLE CANYE—205

This school has been established for several years, and is well known in this city.

No pains are spared to make the place of instruction attractive to the pupils, and the instruction itself profitable.

Parents are respectfully invited to visit the school, and to note carefully the monthly reports of progress and daily attendance.

The English, Spanish, and French languages are carefully taught by skilful instructors, and every branch of useful and ornamental education may be prosecuted in either of these languages.

French and drawing are taught after school hours. Also an art room class for fancy work four times a week.

Day pupils can be received at any time, and a few could be accommodated as boarders or half-boarders.
